What the Happiest and Most Successful WOMEN Do Differently

presented by Marcus Buckingham

Forty years ago, with her seminal article in New York magazine, Gloria Steinem launched the modern women's movement. In the past four decades, women have secured greater opportunity, greater achievement, greater influence, more free time, and more money. And yet, recent research in over 35 developed countries shows that women have become less happy, more anxious and stressed and reveals that as they get older, they grow sadder (men, by contrast, get happier as they age).

In this outstanding seminar, Marcus Buckingham shows women how to buck this trend and create a life of passion, purpose, and performance.

It's time to take stock of just how far women have come...and to reveal what they can do at home and in the workplace to find the happiness they deserve.

Marcus Buckingham will show you how to build your strongest life by:

- Helping you set a direction for your life without fear that you've chosen the wrong one.
- Revealing how to handle the responsibilities on your shoulders without guilt that you aren't doing enough.
- Guiding you to build fulfilling relationships with your boss, your co-workers, your spouse and your kids without resenting what they are demanding from you.
- Discovering the successful strategies of other women like YOU!

PLUS our panel of highly successful Australian women in business will share their journey with you.

- Cassandra Kelly, Joint CEO, Pottinger
- Tracey Ah Hee, CEO and Founder, Genroe
- Angela Vithoulkas, Director and Co-founder, VIVO Group

MC: Julia Bickerstaff, Founder and Director, Business Bakery
